THE SANITARY BOARD.

We have to refer again to this subject, but on the present occasion to an advertisement on the leading article appearing in to-day's issue of our morning contemporary. In discussing the forthcoming appointments to the Sanitary Board of this Colony, the leader writer in the Daily Press said—"Those who have advocated that the community should be given a larger control of the municipal affairs in the Colony will doubtless be thankful for the small mercy which is vouchsafed by the Ordinance, but it is as well to point out that it may prove to be a disappointing concession after all, for the question naturally suggests itself: Of what race are the two elected members likely to be—European or Asiatic?" We beg herein to join issue with our contemporary. The question of the appointments stands entirely on its own merits, and we fail to see wherein racial prejudice can arise in a matter which concerns the public weal of the Asiatic as much as the European in the Colony. Government by the people and for the people is so well recognised and we cannot but admit that it has contributed in no small measure to the greatness of the British nation, that we should much regret if the advocacy against that principle were to prevail and act as a hindrance to the success and popularity of our public institutions, especially so, when our contemporary is forced to the admission that "at this stage in the history of the Colony, where there are so many educated leaders of opinion amongst them [the Chinese], it should surely be too pessimistic a view to take that a popular election might stimulate organised opposition to the whole scheme of sanitary reform." It should be inconsistent if our Government were to deny to the Chinese the limited system of franchise such as it obtains in the Colony under the new Public Health law. The whole system of education in Hongkong initiated from the earliest days of its foundation and improved upon by successive efforts on the part of almost every chief of the Administration, aided by men whose peculiar knowledge of the country and the people eminently fitted them to advise, has had, for its principal aim, the training of the Oriental mind to grasp and act upon the principles enunciated by Western thought. Thanks to the educational policy of the Government no less than to the zealous staff of teachers which public funds and religious societies have provided, the Colony has been able to provide a service of qualified men to largely meet the commercial and other needs of the East, without whom trade might not have been developed with the rapidity with which it has progressed, particularly within the past decade or two. An eminently gratifying departure from the purely quill-driving profession has taken place within recent years by certain "educated leaders of opinion" among the Asiatics and other enlightened members of that community, and the success to which they have attained certainly does not disqualify them from positions to which they have risen entirely by merit and through no favour. We would avoid the invidious task of citing the names of particular individuals; but they are too well known to need to be trotted out in public print as the prototype of many of a class who may well take seats at the board of our public institutions to their own credit and to the honourable service of the Colony. Before dismissing the subject we deem it very apposite to the question to quote certain remarks by Chief Justice Gault while presiding at the Bench on the occasion of the admission of H. E. Wu Ting Fang (at that time Mr. Ng Choy) to the local Bar. The Chief Justice said:

"I am glad to see that a Chinaman, who was educated at St. Paul's College here and who for years acted as an interpreter in the Police Court, has become a member of the English Bar. In England every office becomes open to talent without favour or affection." A principle was clearly enunciated and no departure therefrom is admissible in fairness to all the subjects of His Majesty, regardless of race or creed.

The Hsuean, Hsin-yü, and Anging, all of the same line, were due to leave Shanghai on Friday morning. The Hsuean, however, was delayed waiting for piece goods, and did not leave till 2.30 on Friday afternoon, while the Anging left at 2.45. The three boats had a race to Taku, the Hsuean passing the Taku lightship first, in 52h. 10min., followed by the Hsin-yü 3h. 45min. later, while the Anging was 1h. 12min. later than the Hsin-yü. The Hsuean averaged 13½ knots to Taku light. Mr. Brown, engineer of the Hsuean, is on the point of going home on 12 months' leave, which fact is believed to account in part for the extra cheerful activity of the ship's boilers. The Hsuean passed the Chingping, Hsuean, Kunging and Lien-shing on the way. The Hsuean got ashore in the river, coming up yesterday afternoon, and the Hsin-yü was twice ashore, owing to the strong wind; otherwise the passage up the river was negotiated easily.

PRESENTATION TO REV. FRANCE.

On last Friday evening a social gathering took place at the Sailors' Institute for the purpose of saying "good bye" to the Rev. J. H. France, M.A., the Senior Chaplain of the Seamen's Mission, prior to his departure for England on furlough. By the kindness of a number of ladies and other friends, the room was transformed from a cold Concert Hall into what might pass for a comfortable drawing-room. Amongst those present were Ven. Archdeacon Banister, the Revs. J. Datlan, B. Hall, R.N., W. J. Southern, and T. W. Pearce. The proceedings were enlivened by vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Brown, Miss Eyre, Miss Parker, Mr. H. Wynne, and Rev. T. Wright, as well as by two gleees The Cornhill and The Village Musicians by a Choir specially formed for the occasion. After tea and cake had been disposed of the Rev. T. Wright, B.A., Junior Chaplain, read a letter from the Bishop of Victoria expressing his extreme regret at being unable to be present, and then introduced Mr. Geo. Pierce, who as the oldest member of St. Peter's Church, had been asked to express the good wishes of the congregation to Mr. France on his departure from the Colony. He did so in a very neat speech in which he reviewed the history of St. Peter's during the last 20 years, and concluded by requesting Mr. France to accept a silver casket containing 20 guineas as a small tangible expression of the esteem in which he was held by the members of the congregation. Mr. France having feelingly replied, the meeting was closed by the singing of a hymn and prayer. It may be mentioned that the testimonial was subscribed for by the accustomed members of St. Peter's Church with the assistance of a few outside friends, who had been brought into specially intimate relations with Mr. France in the course of his work in Hongkong. The full charge of the interests of the Seamen's Church has now devolved on the Rev. T. Wright, until the return of the Rev. J. H. France, who expects to return to the Colony towards the close of the year.—Contributed.

Inspector Hudson, who is in charge of the Women and Girls Ordinance, ordered No. 12 Praya East to be closed about six months ago. Defendant went to the house and told the inmates that should they give him a certain amount of money, which he would give to the inspector, the house would be opened again. Defendant went to the house three times and managed to get $10, $13, and $11 respectively. On information supplied, Inspector Hudson arrested the defendant on Saturday evening at the Kow Shing theatre. The case was remanded till tomorrow, bail of $500 being allowed.

SEMI-FINAL OF THE CHALLENGE SHIELD.

The crowd in attendance at the semi-final for the Challenge Shield on Saturday was the largest I have seen this season. The Naval and Military were there in regiments—quite a thousand of them being congregated in bodies around their lusty cheers at different times reminding one of the Yorkshire and Durham lads at a county match in the North of England. The pavilion was full and a large number of visitors occupied chairs on either side of the building. The crowd was very orderly, but precautions were taken by the 'service' to have a few men in uniform to keep the excited on-lookers from overstepping the boundary. Soon after four o'clock, the ball was on the move, and by the determined look of the Greens (Ocean) and Reds (Glory) it was evident that both teams meant to do their best to secure the place in the final. The Glory attacked their opponent's goal with great dash, their centre forward "The Baby," as his comrades called him, playing with wonderful energy. The Greens were kept very busy at half and back, Pearson proving a very useful, steady and reliable kick, while the goal-keeper was cool and collected, and quite ready to stop the leather every time it got near his hands. The Reds took several shots at goal most of which were punched out, while the others went behind. The left wing of the Glory was very fast, Colwell and his partner often getting right down the field to be stopped by the Ocean's backs, who defended their goal admirably. Most of the attacking in the first half was done by the Reds, though very often the right wing of the Ocean got away and worked within very dangerous proximity of their opponent's goal, several times putting in a good shot which the man in the white sweater had no difficulty in sending up the field again. It was a desperate, hard game throughout the first half; but so well did the Ocean defend their citadel that no points were notched, and when the whistle was blown, the score on either side was nil.

The men had a breather for a few minutes with the usual bit of lemon to clear their throats, and at the sound of the signal, sprang up to do, or die. The wind was now slightly in favour of the Greens, who, by their energetic play, were evidently determined to take every advantage of it. They got well down the field their right wing doing very good work; but the men in Red, at back, were quite equal to the occasion, and repulsed their efforts every time. The Glory's team took a fine run up the field, their centre forward and inside right playing a beautiful passing game—both getting within ten yards of the goal. The shot was taken, and though the Ocean custodian made an attempt to save, the ball seemed to slip through his fingers into the net. The shouting at this juncture was immense, hundreds of sailors' caps going up into the air, and cheers enough to make one deaf coming from their throats. This evidently nettled the Green men, who, on kicking off with a dash, appeared dangerous and got close to the goal of the Glory, the result being a corner, which proved of no use as it was kicked behind. Soon after this, hands were given against the Glory's centre forward, who, from a close observer's point of view, very frequently used them when jumping up to stop the ball. After they had been playing about twenty minutes, another point was scored by the Glory, this time the man on the right wing passing nicely to the centre forward, who was in a very comfortable position, and easily placed it into the net. These were now looking very hopeless for the Ocean, but they stuck to their task and fought their way down the field again, and for some time played very near the other goal getting several corners, which, however, did not prove to be of any use. Foul was given against the Reds, and hands were again the cause of a free kick for the Ocean. Towards the finish, the play seemed to get slow, the Glory very often kicking into touch when the ball was getting anywhere near their goal. The match finished at 5.45, with the score Glory 2, Ocean nil. For the Ocean, a lot of good work was done by their right forward, while the backs were very able men. The Glory's forwards were very fast, their halves solid, and backs capable men. The Argonauts will have their work cut out to beat the winners, but as they say "Time proves all things," we shall no doubt learn the issue of the final on the 28th inst., if the Argonauts arrive back when they are expected—about March 24th.

RIFLE AND CARBINE MEETING AT KOWLOON.

The final rifle and carbine meeting of the members of the Hongkong Volunteer Corps was concluded on the Naval and Rifle Association ranges, on Saturday afternoon. The first shoot commenced on the 28th ultimo, and on Saturday the meeting opened at noon. Towards the end of the proceedings Lady Blake, accompanied by H. E. Sir Henry A. Blake, G.C.M.G., Miss Blake and Sir John Keane, the Private Secretary, arrived in the grounds. The arrangements were successfully carried out by the genial commandant, Major Pritchard, and an energetic committee. The ranges were at 200, 400, 500, and 600 yards, and two sights and seven shots were allowed at each range. The centre of attraction was that of the Corps Championship, and in order to win this coveted prize, the competitor must have the highest net aggregate, with either rifle or carbine, and also be successful for two consecutive years. Bom. Cameron was the winner this year, securing the prize with the creditable score of 94 out of a possible 100. Previous to the presentation of prizes to the successful competitors by Lady Blake, Major Pritchard expressed the pleasure of seeing the Government House party gracing the function by their presence, and dwelt on the kindness of Miss Blake, who personally collected the Ladies' Purse. Gunner Pearce, winner of the Ladies' Purse, then handed a lovely bouquet of violet to Miss Blake, and a similar presentation was made to Lady Blake. Three rousing cheers were then given to the Government House party, and cheers were accorded to Commandant Pritchard and officers of the corps, at the conclusion of which the interesting and profitable meeting was brought to a close. The following are the names of the successful competitors and the prize donors:—

"A. M. RISBEE."

ANOTHER HONGKONG-BUILT STEAMER.

Mr. H. F. Carmichael has added another success to the Hongkong shipbuilding industry in the steam-cutter A. M. Risbee, which was recently constructed for the Shanghai Pilots Association. The speed trial on Saturday not only proved satisfactory, but left a very good margin on the right side. An average speed, over the measured mile, of ten and three-quarter knots was attained or, in other words, a knot and a quarter in excess of the stipulation. Those who witnessed the runs (two in number) in Kowloon Bay, included Captain Wittmus, pilot, Shanghai, Captain McCracken, who some time ago assumed command, Messrs. J. F. Carmichael, Kwok Yik Ting, U. Clark, A. Wai, D. Hollis, Captains G. C. Anderson, Geo. Parker, and Mead. After the trial, the steamer was headed for the Wanchai mooring, and the visitors heartily congratulated those connected with the construction of the vessel. A successful career was also toasted to the new craft by the contractor.

The A. M. Risbee is 140 ft. over all, 24 ft. 6 in. beam, and 13 ft. moulded depth. Her engines are compound surface condensing, cylinders 15 and 31 inch, stroke 21 inch, boiler 9 ft. 6 in. diameter by 10 ft. long, and working pressure 120 lbs. The gross tonnage is 25,294, and the net 16,883. Needless to say, the specifications on which she is built are those conducive to withstanding the variable and, at times, rough and tumble sor of weather, experienced at the mouth of the Northern river. Comfort has also been studied; the saloon and pilots' berths being at the forward end, away from the screw; the crew's quarters are abaft. The vessel, in appearance, is a straight cut craft; she has a hard weather clean swept deck, a buff funnel and two masts. The frame work is of yacal and the planking of teak.

Mr. Henry Phipps, who is a partner of Mr. Carnegie, has arrived at Hongkong from the Delhi Durbar and is proceeding to the United States via Japan. He is accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Phipps, and is staying at the Hongkong Hotel. In connection with his visit it is interesting to note that he has recently given £30,000 to the Viceroy of India for the benefit of the people of that country. He first gave a magnificent donation of £20,000 which the Viceroy decided to devote to the foundation of a Central Agricultural Laboratory and of a Pasteur Institute for Southern India. Mr. Phipps was so much pleased with the purposes to which the money was to be devoted, that he decided to increase his gift by another £10,000, and the Government of India are considering whether they may be able in connection with this increased gift to carry out measures for combining agricultural education, scientific research and practical experiment, in one locality.

AT THE THEATRE.

"FACING THE MUSIC."

Discordant strains echoed and re-echoed in Flat No. 19, Mono Mansions, Kensington, on Saturday evening and John Smith (the other Smith) experienced a lively two hours listening to the band. The amusing scenes enacted in that aristocratic quarter are not unknown in Hongkong, as only a few weeks since the Janet Waldorf Company faced similar music and delighted a full house. Nevertheless, Hongkong was greatly pleased when the announcement was made that the farcical comedy would be presented by the Brough Company and a large audience faced the footlights on Saturday and spent a merry evening. The witticisms of Mr. Brough as John Smith, the blarney of Mr. Leslie Victor in the garb of the Rev. John Smith, the indignation of Mrs. Brough in the rôle of Nora, and the "deuced fine girl that don't yer know!" of the gallant Colonel, Mr. Orlando Daly, were in keeping with the play and, with equally good acting on the part of the Company, the force was swiftly carried through from the time the "other Smith" slipped in with the milkman and emerged triumphant after facing the music.

"THE TYRANNY OF TEARS."

For the last two performances Mr. Brough has made a very happy selection from his repertoire of plays. As every theatregoer knows The Tyranny of Tears is by C. Haddon Chambers, author of The Elder, Captain Swift and other brilliant works. By general consent The Tyranny of Tears is voted his very best effort, and its success year after year in England, America and Australia amply bears out this statement. Undoubtedly the play points a moral. Clement Parbury, a successful writer, was for five years the victim of a tearful wife. Whenever she wanted her own way Mrs. Parbury cried, and poor, distracted, nervous Clement had to yield. There are many Clement Parburys in this world, who do as he did, drift on a river of tears, until they find themselves on the verge of a veritable Niagara. In a moment of abstraction, which she afterwards ascribes to "maternal affection," Miss Woodward, Clement Parbury's matter-of-fact secretary, kisses her master's photograph. The point was that Miss Woodward pitied Clement. As she very aptly put it, Mrs. Parbury was always roughing her husband's hair when he wanted it smooth, and smoothing it when he desired it rough. The incident is to be kept a secret between the two women, but Mrs. Parbury insists on Miss Woodward leaving. Clement seizes the opportunity to become strong, and will not hear of his secretary going without good reason. He has been robbed of his old friends, his clubs, his high spirits, his self-respect, and many other possessions by the tyranny of his wife's tears; but he puts his foot down, and will not part with his amanuensis. The sympathy of the public is naturally with Clement, notwithstanding that his wife charges him with being "unreasonable." Mrs. Parbury threatens to go to her father unless the secretary is dismissed. Clement is obdurate, and the scene ends with Mrs. Parbury leaving to get her hat and cloak, and saying with confidence "He'll never let me go." and Clement murmuring assuredly "She won't go." Both are mistaken, however, for Mrs. Parbury takes shelter under her father's roof. The dramatist having taught an excellent lesson has to bring the two together again, so he finds a husband in the person of Mr. George Gunning, a "cynical friend of Clement's," for Miss Woodward, and the lover scene between the two is extremely novel and natural. Mrs. Parbury comes back, and after some good advice by Clement, which many a one could take to heart, the lovers of five years' standing are reunited and start on a much more understandable and better footing. Clement could not have drifted into a cat-and-dog life with his wife, with an aching hatred one for the other in private and the veneer of courtesy and a smile in public. The only other character is an amusing and intensely human retired colonel, the father of Mrs. Parbury. The dialogue is exceedingly smart and clever, and it has the additional virtue of being spontaneous. The Tyranny of Tears is a play which one can evoke hearty laughter from start to finish, and if those who are in need of the home truth will read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest the moral lesson they will ever remember Haddon Chambers with gratitude.

To-morrow night the Brough Company positively make their final appearance in Hongkong, when Are you a Mason? will be revived by universal desire. And with that performance will come to a close one of the most successful—artistically and financially—seasons ever played in the City Hall. The Company leave for Shanghai on Wednesday.

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, 13th March.

THE CANTON BUND.

We have been disappointed so often regarding the building of a bund along the river that any announcement regarding it is received with a degree of hesitation. A few days ago a proclamation was issued saying that the bund had been surveyed and its construction would soon be undertaken. Upon inquiry I find that some kind of an agreement had been made for the construction of a bund. Whether the agreement is in the nature of a contract, and what the nature of the contract is, I have not been able to ascertain. There are many rumours abroad regarding it but most of them are wide of the truth. It will certainly be an advantage to shippers to have a good bund. Prefect Kung created a good deal of interest in the project to build the bund before he left Canton.

SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The school for girls opened last year near and, in a sense, connected with the Shi Man Hok Tong, has been re-opened. At first the Viceroy refused his sanction, but later changed his mind and the school opened. The subscriptions towards the support of the school are not as large as the promoters would like. Two women have been engaged as teachers. The directors are endeavouring to secure a teacher trained at some of the mission schools to teach Western learning and no objection will be made to instruction in the Christian religion. The late Viceroy Tao Mu's prediction regarding teachers is coming true. His prediction was that the one difficulty regarding these schools would prove to be a lack of teachers. I have seen several schools for English taught by Chinese, and though pupils are never wanting I have not seen one Chinese who understands the art of teaching.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Mr. E. S. Little writes as follows to the N. C. D. News:—Since the publication of my pamphlet on the currency question your columns have contained a number of important communications and suggestions upon this most important problem. It is further noticeable that the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce has reversed the previous action of its Committee and also that the Tientsin Chamber of Commerce are taking some action in the matter. I have brought the question to the attention of both the China Association and the Shanghai Chamber of Commerce but in neither case has the Committee yet seen fit to take action. Shanghai, as practically the commercial capital of China, should take the lead in these great questions and it is to be hoped that public opinion will bring the Committees of these bodies to some definite line of action.

Commercial.

HEMP.

Messrs. Warner, Barnes & Co., Ltd., writing from Manila on 28th ult. state:—The hemp market has been rather inanimate locally owing to the continued difference between buyers and sellers. The latter have consequently been storing arrivals until they now hold some 50,000 bales free hemp. Receipts have been moderate during the interval, but it seems likely that during the coming month we shall see these on a freer scale, and possibly a consequent lower range of prices. We quote fair current to-day with sellers at $22.50 per picul equal at exchange 1/7½ to £33.94 per ton f.o.b.

RICE.

They also state:—Three cargoes of new grain from Saigon have arrived, and gone into consumption at $5.87½ per picul f.o.b., the quantity of rice contracted for is insignificant, as importers were afraid of high prices ruling and held aloof waiting cheaper grain—values, however, have continued advancing, and the earliest date millers can contract is for May shipment, at prices which will lay down here at $7 per picul. In view of the general shortage of crops in the producing markets, it seems improbable that we shall see cheaper grain all through the season.
